Someone needs to put a stop to these 'fat-cats' deteriorating the lives of the common Australian! I'm in Retail and the only days that I am currently able to have off with my family for sure are Christmas Day, Boxing Day(in some areas), Good Friday and Easter Sunday (in some areas).With the clauses in employment where we have to work to 'suit the business' needs' anywhere between these days, and where there are 'black-out periods' for time off up to a month either side of these seasonal events it is already restrictive enough for the employee and flexible enough for the employer!
